Your group will then travel to a true Icelandic treasure: Thingvellir National Park. This UNESCO World Heritage Site is an absolute must-do on a vacation to Iceland for several reasons. It is home to the beautiful Þingvellir Lake, the largest natural lake in the country. It is also the site of the incredible Almannagjá fault, and visitors can actually walk along the Mid-Atlantic ridge, where the North American and Eurasian tectonic plates meet. Lastly Þingvellir National Park is home to the Althing (the Icelandic Parliament); having been founded in 930 AD, it is one of the oldest national legislative assemblies in the world. After experiencing the immense natural beauty of this historic site, journey past the edges of the Icelandic Highlands to the verdant valley of Borgarfjörður.

Your group will stop at the breathtaking Hraunfossar and Barnafoss waterfalls and then proceed to the village of Reykholt. This area is of much importance to those interested in Viking history and the Icelandic sagas. Snorri Sturluson, an Icelandic politician and medieval Saga author who was born in 1179, hailed from Reykholt, and today your group will visit interesting historical sites connected to Reykholt's era of Viking settlement in Iceland. You will also see the ancient farm of Borg á Mýrum, which was the birthplace of Egill Skallagrímsson. Arguably Iceland's most famous Viking poet, Skallagrímsson served as the protagonist in the Egils saga. Your group will have the opportunity to learn more about his life at the Icelandic Settlement Center in Borgarnes, which you will visit before arriving to the hotel in Borgarnes.

After check-in and time to freshen up, your group will dine in Borgarnes.

DAY 4 • VARMAHLÍÐ

After breakfast and check-out, your group will board its private coach and drive north past fertile farmlands and along the picturesque Breiðafjörður Bay to the Viking-era home at Eiríksstaðir, located on West Iceland's scenic coast. This area is incredibly important in Nordic history as many Viking explorers set out west from this coast with the aim of discovering new and distant lands. The farm of Erik the Red, who founded the first permanent settlement in Greenland, was located in Eiríksstaðir, which was also the birthplace of his son, Leif Eriksson, the Viking explorer who landed in North America almost 500 years before Christopher Columbus. While in Eiríksstaðir your group will learn about how the Vikings lived 1000 years ago in a recreated, turf-covered Viking longhouse. You will also visit the nearby Leifssafn Museum, which houses a Vinland exhibit on Leif Eriksson's explorations, to see more fascinating artifacts from the Viking Age.

This enchanting, magical Dalabyggð region is also highly connected to Icelandic folklore. Countless tales of elves, ghosts and sorcerers inhabit the region, which has served as the setting in some of the ancient Icelandic Sagas. Today your group will visit the "elf colony" found on the rocky hill of Tungustapi. Also featured on today's sightseeing tour is the remarkable rock formation of Hvítserkur, which is located on the picturesque Vatnsnes Peninsula. While enjoying the calmness, you may happen to spot a seal or two, which frequently inhabit the area. Before arriving to the hotel in the village of Varmahlíð, your group will stop and visit the small church of Þingeyri, which is located on the site of the first monastery established in Iceland; back in the early 12th century.

After checking in and having time to freshen up, your group will dine this evening in Varmahlíð.

DAY 5 • VARMAHLÍÐ – SAUÐÁRKRÓKUR – HÓLAR - SIGLUFJÖRÐUR

After breakfast in the hotel, today's sightseeing will commence with visits to the Glaumbær Regional History Museum and to the historic Víðimýrarkirkja Church; an excellent representation of Icelandic architecture. Your group will then drive east to the small community of Hólar, which has always been an important center of learning in Iceland. During the medieval era, Hólar was also important politically. While there your group will visit Hólar's archeological site as well as its pretty, wooden church.

You will then drive north along the coast to the historic trading port of Hofsós, which will give you unbeatable views of the nearby Isle of Drangey, whose steep volcanic cliffs rise dramatically (almost 500 feet) from the waters of the Skagafjörður fjord below. According to the Icelandic sagas, Drangey is where the great Icelandic outlaw, Grettir the Strong, met his end in the 11th century. The Icelandic Emigration Center, which you will visit, was created to shed light on the plight of Icelanders who emigrated to North America.

Afterwards continue traveling north to Siglufjörður, a remote fishing village that sits snugly between mountain and fjord (and not far from the Arctic Circle). Siglufjörður was once the capital of the herring industry in Iceland, and in its heyday during the first half of the 20th century (known as the "Icelandic gold rush"), the town was prosperous and quite populated. As the herring population decreased, so did Siglufjörður's. Today your group will visit the very interesting Herring Industry Museum, which houses tools of a bygone era that have been kept in perfect working order.

The tour will finish up back at the hotel. After time to fresh up, your group will dine in Varmahlíð.

DAY 6 • KJÖLUR – GEYSIR – GULLFOSS – SKÁLHOLT

After breakfast and check-out, your group will board its private coach and take the Kjölur road south through Iceland's legendary Highlands. If you're looking to escape the chaos and stress of today's world, this would be a good place to do it! Most of Iceland's rugged interior is pure wilderness. You're not likely to see anyone, so just sit back and enjoy the scenery. Interestingly, this route is ancient; it's even mentioned in the Icelandic Sagas.

During the drive you will stop to see the hot springs and geothermal pools of Hveravellir. The drive will also take your group to the Haukadalur Valley, an otherworldly geothermal area that is home to boiling mud pools and erupting hot springs including the Great Geysir and the Strokkur geyser (which spouts 98 feet every 10 minutes). Iceland's beautiful Gullfoss waterfall is located nearby, which your group will also stop to see.

Before arriving to the hotel in the village of Flúðir, your group will visit the historical site of Skálholt. Much like Hólar, Skálholt was an important religious and cultural center in Iceland from the medieval era until the late 18th century. While there your group will see Skálholt's monastery, cathedral, school and smithy; as well as the bishop's office.

As this area provided the backdrop for one of the most-acclaimed works of medieval Icelandic literature, Njáls saga, your sightseeing will kick off with a visit to the Icelandic Saga Centre in the town of Hvalsövellur to learn about the world of Norse mythology, arduous ocean voyages, and the Vikings' desire to discover new and distant lands.

Continuing east your group will arrive to the mighty waterfalls of Seljalandsfoss and Skógafoss, whose cliffs house nesting Fulmars in the summertime. The last natural attractions featured on today's sightseeing tour include the magnificent Reynisdrangar rock formations and the black sandy beaches that line the coastal village of Vík. Afterwards your group will travel west to Iceland's capital city.

After checking in to the hotel in Reykjavík, the remainder of the day is free. Enjoy your last evening in Iceland.
